FIREMEN, BAND EXTEND PARADE MONEY TO $620

The Gettysburg Fire Department, accompanied by the Blue and Gray Band, won another first prize Wednesday night when it was awarded $75 for the best appearing firemen's marching unit with music in the annual firemen's parade at Hampstead, Md.

The Fire Department mustered 36 men for the trip to the Maryland town, including its banner-carriers and its own color guard. It also took two pieces of apparatus.

Wednesday night's win at Hampstead brings the total prize money won this summer by the firemen and the band at $620, which will be shared equally by the two organizations under an early season arrangement made by the firemen with the band.

The firemen's winnings included, in the ten parades in which the department has participated this summer, eight firsts and a second.

They won $50 at Union Bridge, Md.; $75 at New Windsor, Md.; $35 at Taneytown; $75 at Irishtown; $100 at Westminster; $50 at Manchester, Md.; $75 at Arcadia, Md.; $35 at Abbottstown and $75 Wednesday night at Hampstead.

The firemen were not "in the money" at Emmitsburg, but the band won a second prize of $50, which under the arrangements will be divided with the firemen.

The Fire Department is aiming at another first prize of $75 for the most men in line at Thurmont tonight. Every member of the department with a uniform is urged to report at the fire engine house, E. Middle St., prepared to leave for Thurmont not later than 6:15 p.m. The parade is scheduled for 6:45 p.m.

In the Hampstead parade Wednesday night, Parkville (Hannover) took second place in best appearing firemen's marching unit with music, and Irishtown third prize.

Pooch Finds Pussy Was Porky

Rex, a Boston Terrier puppy, shows the royal reception he received after snapping at a porcupine in the woods, possibly in the mistaken belief it was a cat. Veterinarian Edward A. Blake, in Gardner, Mass., removed over 2,000 quills from the pup's head and inside the mouth while Rex was under an anesthetic. With eyes still puffy Rex is pictured after being de-quilled, at right, sadder, and—no hope—wiser.

Swedish Reds Convicted Of Selling Defense Secrets

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (P)—Six Swedish Communists were convicted of selling vital defense secrets to Russia today and two were sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor. A seventh was acquitted.

The Swedish government charged them with turning over to the Russians full details of their country's northern defenses against any Russian attack across neighboring Finland.

Fritiof Enbom, 33-year-old confessed mastermind of the Soviet spy ring, and his chief accomplice, Juge Gersvold, both drew life terms at hard labor. The ring leader's younger brother, Martin Enbom, drew a seven-year sentence.

Others convicted and sentenced were: Arthur Karlsson, 42, a Communist member of the Town Council of Halmstad in South Sweden. Karlsson, who arranged the elder Enbom's contact with Soviet Embassy officials, received one year and eight months imprisonment.

Fingal Larsson, 40, a railway worker, whom the government accused of sending regular reports to Enbom on railway security measures. He drew five years at hard labor.

Lilian Ceder, 31, Fritiof Enbom's girl friend, whom police charged operated a shortwave transmitter Enbom received from the Russians. She was given eight months but the court ruled the three months she has spent in custody since her arrest would count in this period.

Seventh Acquitted

The seventh accused member of the ring, acquitted for lack of proof, was Tage Wickstrom, 37, a clerk in the Army Fortification Construction Bureau.

The Enbom brothers and Gersvold confessed. The elder Enbom, an editor and agitator, said he had collected military and industrial information for the Russians for six years, turning it over to Soviet embassy officials in return for cash.

He admitted giving the Soviets data on Sweden's strongest modern fortress, near Boden, 75 miles from the Finnish border. Other information collected included maps of secret military roads, forts and field fortifications, locations of transformer stations, ammunition and fuel dumps, and up-to-date lists of armaments and military equipment.

Plans for the annual roundup of the county's 4-H clubs were outlined at a meeting of the committee in charge Wednesday evening at the Court House.

The affair, scheduled for August 30, will be held at Gettysburg High School instead of the South Mountain Fairgrounds as originally planned. At Wednesday night's meeting the committee expressed the through that since the South Mountain Fair will begin the following Tuesday a meeting on August 30 would interfere with work in preparation for the fair.

Plan Spelling Bee

Plans were announced for a "spelling bee" on agriculture and home economics as a special event for the round-up. Ten boys and ten girls will be selected for this event, with both teams to be asked questions on both subjects.

Exhibits of the work completed by the 4-H Club members during the past season will be set up by the various clubs at the high school during the morning. Judging of the various displays and entries is also scheduled for the morning.

During the afternoon, in addition to the "spelling bee," and reports on 4-H activities for the past year, the prizes won in the judging will be awarded.

Other Speakers Listed

Among talks to be presented at the morning meeting will be "Prayer and Meditation," Linford Rotenberg; "Reading and Bible Study," Robert Byerly; "Sermon Preparation," Arthur Hess; "Directives of the Holy Spirit," Monroe Danner; "Counseling," Robert Knechel.

At the afternoon session speakers will include, "The New Birth," Robert Cocklin; "Making Our Homes More Christlike," Nevin Smith; "Christian Stewardship," J. L. Miller; "Christian Ordinances," J. E. Trimmer.

Walter A. Keeney will be moderator for the Wednesday evening session; David Markey, chorister; Wayne Nicarry, devotions. Nevin Zuck will speak on "Do the Work of an Evangelist."

The Sunday School session will be held Thursday with Milton Baugher in charge of a sectional conference for superintendents and assistants, Anna Schwenk, children's workers

Trouble Comes In Double Doses

Bad luck comes in double doses for William Hemler, 53 E. Water St., an employee of The Gettysburg Times.

Hemler was involved in an automobile accident on the Mummasburg Rd. at the entrance to the Peace Light Inn recently. State police of the Gettysburg substation charged him with making a left turn in the face of oncoming traffic. He paid his fine.

Then he received notice to appear for a hearing before state authorities in Chambersburg this morning. He was told, following the submission of evidence, that he could continue to drive his car until he heard further from Harrisburg.

When he left the Court House in Chambersburg he found a ticket on his automobile for over-time parking.

Clark S. Smith, 49 W. Lincoln Ave., a member of the Board of Directors of the Gettysburg Community Chest, was today named director of the 1952 Chest drive to be held in October. Announcement of his appointment was made by Atty. Donald M. Swope, president of the Community Chest.

The dates of the annual Community Chest campaign this fall have not been set. Mr. Swope said today a meeting of the Board of Directors will probably be held in August to set definite dates.

The Social Planning Committee, of which Atty. Daniel E. Teeter is chairman, will also meet in August to go over the budgets submitted by the six member organizations, consider their needs, and make recommendations to the Board of Directors on the amounts to be allocated in the overall budget for the fall drive.

Members of the Community Chest who receive funds through this joint campaign are the Boy and Girl Scouts, Recreation Association, Adams County Library, YWCA and Civic Nursing Association.

CONSERVATION DEMONSTRATION TO BE HELD AUG. 4

Plans for a demonstration of improved conservation methods were announced today by the Adams County Soil Conservation District.

The demonstration, involving use of heavier earth moving equipment, to be held on the Joseph Catchings farm, on the Table Rock-Centre Mills Road, 7 1/4 miles north of Gettysburg, will be held August 4. Richard Long, local soil conservationist, announced today.

He added that the demonstration is designed to show the latest methods of clearing, ditching and pasture renovation.

A small stream is to be relocated and straightened, banks will be sloped so they can be seeded to help reduce erosion; a diversion ditch will be constructed to improve drainage and in addition some clearing and pasture renovation work is to be performed during the demonstration, Long said.

To Serve Lunch

The program will begin at 10 o'clock next Monday and will continue until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Sandwiches and beverages prepared by the Ladies Aid Society of the Church of the Brethren will be furnished free during the program.

Long pointed out that the demonstration is not one of the "face lifting" events which have been held in this section in prior years in which an entire farm is made over in one day. The demonstration at the Catchings farm, he said, is designed to show "the economy and time saving features in using large earth moving equipment to carry out a few of the permanent type conservation practices."

Millionth Youth Is Drafted Since Reds Hit Korea

DETROIT (P)—A typical 23-year-old—neither delighted nor grieved at leaving a sweetheart behind—today became the millionth draftee since the beginning of the Korean War.

He is Arthur Weinfeld, and for a year he has been expecting this day—induction day.

With a resigned, "I might as well get it over with," Weinfeld volunteered for induction after his graduation from Wayne University in 1951. Detroit Draft Board 97 took up its option today.

FEW CHANGES IN RETAIL PRICE OF FOOD THIS WEEK

By The Associated Press
There were relatively few changes in retail food prices this week, and most price movements were slight.

Top grade eggs eased a few cents a dozen in many places. A few markets boosted prices of the lean cuts of pork. Peaches, pears and cantaloupes were mostly a little lower while other fruits rose slightly, and the price pattern in fresh vegetables was narrow and irregular.

Wholesale price ceilings on some cuts of pork were raised by the Office of Price Stabilization (they may be reduced again next fall) and under the new economic controls law these new prices may be passed along to the consumer. They permit increases of 8 cents a pound for pork chops, loins and spareribs; 3 cents for hams, boston butts and neckbones, and 1 cent a pound for pork shoulders.

Pork Prices Up

However, a spot survey of leading store chains showed retail pork prices advancing only here and there this week.

Turkeys were high on the lists of week-end shopping specials of several markets this week. Other foods appearing frequently on the week's list of specials: Beef rib roasts, boneless chuck pot roasts, smoked hams and pork butts, frying chickens, fowl, peaches, pears, honeydew melons, cantaloupes, lettuce, bananas and fresh and frozen fish.

Large eggs dropped as much as 8 cents a dozen in some places, less in others, in a belated reaction to a steep decline last week at wholesale. Dealers said consumer demand eased in many areas because of hot weather, production kept up unexpectedly well, and many retailers turned to cold storage eggs because they considered the price of fresh eggs too high.

Other Prices Jump

On the fresh produce shelves this week, cabbage, cauliflower, potatoes, spinach and tomatoes edged a little higher in price, while celery, corn, eggplant and peppers fell back slightly. Watermelons, blueberries, grapes and citrus fruits averaged a little higher. Plums and apricots were about unchanged.

The Agriculture Department stressed peaches as a most-plentiful food for thrifty buying this week and issued this list of foods in liberal supply for the nation during the coming month:

Peaches, pears, oranges, lemons, limes, frozen concentrated orange juice, frozen and canned lemon products, snap beans, sweet corn, tomatoes, turkeys, stewing hens, buttermilk, cheddar and cottage cheese, nonfat dry milk solids and fresh and frozen fish.

DOUG TO HEAD REMINGTON CO.

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur today accepted the chairmanship of Remington Rand Inc., manufacturers of business machines and electronics equipment.

His acceptance was announced by James H. Rand, president, who said the post had been offered MacArthur nearly three years ago.

The company made no mention of the general's salary as chairman, but it was previously reported unofficially he had been offered $100,000 a year.

A company spokesman indicated the general will retain his Army rank, on an unassigned basis. His status will be similar to that of Gen. of the Army, Dwight D. Eisenhower when Eisenhower was President of Columbia University.

Formal election of MacArthur as Remington Rand chairman took place at a directors' meeting here this morning.

MacArthur said in a statement he was "delighted to have this opportunity of becoming associated with my old friend, Jim Rand, and with the company he has so ably headed. I am particularly impressed with the progressive policies of Remington Rand in the expansion of foreign markets and in the field of research and development, especially in electronics in which the company now plays a dominant role."

UNVEIL PLAQUE TO GEN. BUTLER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Quaker City has honored the late Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, famed Marine hero and a former city administrator. But the honor came about 25 years late.

Butler, winner of two Congressional Medals of Honor, headed a drive against crime and corruption in Philadelphia as Director of Public Safety during the stormy prohibition days of the 1920's.

A plaque unveiled yesterday at City Hall was cast in 1927 by a group of friends who wished to pay tribute to the general.

Tardy Recognition
But the city did not accept until now because opposition engendered by Butler's regime during the hoodlum-haunted 20s still remained in some quarters.

The plaque was presented to the city by Butler's four grandchildren and was accepted by Dist. Atty. Richardson Dilworth, himself a Marine veteran of both world wars.

Since 1927 the plaque has remained at the Marine Base at Quantico, Va., where Butler was commandant before his retirement.

Butler, a native of West Chester, Pa., died in 1940.

Said Dilworth in accepting the plaque: "Butler never compromised his convictions. He was one man who could be described as incorruptible."

14 ARE NAMED BY PRESIDENT ON WAGE BOARD

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman has appointed 14 members of a new Wage Stabilization Board stripped of authority to deal with nationwide labor disputes. Four additional members will be named later.

The new board came into existence yesterday when the old board headed by Nathan Feinsinger, expired. Congress ordered the old board disbanded following a controversy touched off by recommendations it made last March in an effort to settle the steel dispute.

Two New Members
Of the 14 members named by President Truman yesterday, only two are new. They are Chairman Archibald Cox, a Harvard law professor and one of six public members, and public member Harold L. Enarson, former professor at Whittier College and Stanford University and recently a member of the staff of Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman.

The other two public members, the six labor members and the four industry members appointed yesterday are all holdovers.

Holdover Appointees
They are: Public members — Thomas F. Coman, former Labor News reporter, and Paul N. Guthrie, former University of North Carolina professor. Industry members — Malcolm L. Denise, Grosse Point Park, Mich., Ford Motor Company; Hiram S. Hall, Denville, N. J., National Association of Manufacturers; and Millard E. Stone, South Bend, Ind., Bendix Aviation Corp. Labor Members — Elmer E. Walker, International Association of Machinists; Harry O. Bates, AFL Bricklayers; William C. Birthwright, AFL Barbers; Joseph Childs, CIO United Rubber Workers; Ben C. Sigal, CIO International Electrical Workers, and John B. Pophy, CIO headquarters in Washington.

Subject To Confirmation
All appointments are subject to Senate confirmation, a requirement not imposed upon members of the former board. But they may serve under presidential appointment until Congress reconvenes.

About all the new board can do is recommend wage stabilization policies. All regulations it may issue to control wages must be cleared first by the Economic Stabilization Agency headed by Roger L. Putnam.

Saucers Probably Just Searchlight
That "flying saucer" seen by Adams Countians Tuesday night may have been a searchlight at Lemoyne.

At least reports from Harrisburg indicate that persons who saw aerial discs near there finally tracked the strange light to a searchlight being used to attract attention to a carnival at Lemoyne. From certain positions the light could be seen in the sky as a disc, without the beam from the searchlight being visible.

Adams Countians who saw the "saucer" all reported it as being north of them, which would put the location in the Lemoyne area.

FAMILY OF FIVE IS BURNED OUT

Fire completely destroyed a six-room frame dwelling along the St. Anthony's Motters Station road about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, leaving the Franklin Benedict Brawner family of five homeless and without any clothing or household furnishings.

State Trooper Kenneth D. Bond, who investigated, said the fire broke out when an oil stove apparently exploded. He said the house and all clothing and household furnishings were destroyed.

The Vigilant Hose Company of Emmitsburg, which responded to the alarm, was unable to save the house and firemen confined their efforts to keeping the blaze from spreading. It is understood that the house was only partly covered by insurance, and it was reported the Brawners had no insurance on their furnishings.

Trooper Bond said the house was owned by Marie Gioniger Rial who lives beside the house, which is located about a half mile from St. Anthony's. The owner estimated her loss at $6,000, it was reported.

The house was occupied by Franklin Brawner, his wife and three children. Bond said the parents and the oldest child, a boy of 17, were away at work when the fire broke out.

The officer reported the 15-year-old daughter had put some water on an oil stove to heat for washing and had gone to another room to lie down. The fire was discovered by the youngest son, aged 12, who smelled smoke and saw the house in flames.

Oldest In Lancaster
Trinity Church, one of American Protestantism's most historic churches and the oldest in Lancaster, was established in 1730. The present church building, renovated completely in 1950, was constructed in 1760 to 1766.

Its most illustrious pastor was the Rev. Dr. Henry Ernst Muhlenberg, son of the Lutheran patriarch H. M. Muhlenberg, and the first president of Franklin College, later Franklin and Marshall College, and America's leading botanist in the early national period of American history. The parish was most recently served by the Rev. Dr. Henry H. Bagger, newly-elected president of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia and one-time president of the Pittsburgh Synod of the ULCA.

Mr. Fisher will continue his duties at Christ Church throughout September and October, thus launching the church's fall program in connection with the new academic year at Gettysburg College and the Lutheran Seminary here. The Pulpit Committee, entrusted with calling a new pastor for "College" Church, includes the Rev. Dr. Harry F. Baughman, chairman; Dr. Kenneth L. Smoke, Dr. John B. Zinn, Dr. Lloyd C. Keefe and Lyscurus Long.

Mr. Fisher today indicated his own and his family's personal reluctance to leave Gettysburg because of the happiness and satisfactions and friendships during their five years of residence here. In November their new home will be the Trinity parsonage at 42 N. Lime St., Lancaster.

At least ten teams, the best amateur girls' softball clubs in the state, will come here to participate in the annual state tournament of the Class A Girls' Pennsylvania Amateur Softball Association which will be held on the Recreation Field Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 8, 9 and 10.

Announcement as to the teams and districts will be made next week.

Local fans are expected to be given a real treat by the girls. Their brand of ball is reported to be comparable to that of the men and the blondes, brunettes and redheads will go all out in their quest for the state championship.

Umpires and officials of the state association will be on hand to take charge of the tournament which will be conducted along the same lines as that of the men's tournament which was held here last year.

Double Elimination
The double elimination plan will be followed, two defeats eliminating a team from further play.

Games will be played Friday evening, all day Saturday and the finals Sunday afternoon.

Team assignments for assisting in the tournament have been given out as follows by the local Softball League, which is bringing the tournament here: Tickets, Texas Lunch and Eagles; grounds, Swope's Atlantic and East Berlin; parking, Lentz Legion and Penn-Ceramic; refreshments, Moose and Glenn L. Fire police of the Gettysburg Fire Company will aid.

Tickets are now on sale for the entire tournament at $1 each and may be procured from local league officials or at the refreshment stand at the Recreation Field. Tickets for single days will be 50c.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—"Daddy, what is a hole in one?" Mary Lou Eason, 15, asked the question of her father as they stood alongside the sixth green at San Jose Country Club recently.

IRVIN TO PLAY IN PIRATE GAME

NEW YORK (AP)—Monte Irvin, pronounced fit for return to duty, will get his first starting chance of the 1952 season tomorrow night when the New York Giants engage the Pittsburgh Pirates.

It was on April 2 that Irvin suffered a multiple fracture of his right ankle while sliding into third base in an exhibition game in Denver. At the time they despaired of Monte ever playing again. At best, they said, he might be able to resume his playing career next season.

Good Prediction
"I heal fast," said the undisputed Irvin as he lay in a hospital cot with his encased right leg supported by pulleys. "I got good bones. I'll be ready to play by Aug. 1."

Even Irvin didn't realize then what a crystal gazer he was to turn out to be. For that is the exact date Monte is slated to make his first start. His pinch-hit appearance last Sunday against Cincinnati was the first time he had seen action since his mishap. He also went in as a pinch-hitter against the Chicago Cubs last night but was called out on strikes.

Eastern League

By The Associated Press
For half the season it looked like a runaway for the Albany Senators, but three strong first division clubs may yet turn the Eastern League pennant fight into a free-for-all.

The Schenectady Blue Jays moved into a second-place tie with the Reading Indians last night by beating the Senators, 10-9, at Albany.

Reading lost to the Elmira Pioneers, 4-2. Joe Bielemeir and Lefty Bob Wegner limited the Indians to six hits.

The Binghamton Triplets kept up with the pace by trouncing the Hartford Chiefs, 13-2.

Joe Cheez, the Williamsport Tigers' bonus pitcher from Stanford University, held the Scranton Miners to three hits until the ninth inning at Williamsport. Then the Miners pushed over five runs to win, 7-4.

ROBIN ROBERTS DEFEATS REDS FOR 16TH WIN

By JACK HAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Robin Roberts is proving his right to the title—best pitcher in the National League.

While Philadelphia leads the rest of the nation in going wild over little Bobby Shantz of the A's, Mr. Roberts quietly piles up wins for the Phillies.

Shantz probably will beat him to the 20-win poll for he goes after No. 19 today in Detroit, but Roberts won't be far behind. He leads the National with 16 wins after last night's 7-3 success against Cincinnati.

The Phils continued their surge in the National with a sixth straight over the Reds on a wild six-inning rally in the eighth. Willie Jones' three-run homer featured the attack. Willie also hit a homer in the seventh.

Brooklyn Wins One
Brooklyn snapped its five-game losing string, shading Pittsburgh 4-3 in the 10th on Carl Furillo's first hit in 16 times at bat. The victory added a half game to the Dodger lead, now measuring 4½ games, after the runnerup Giants split a two-night double header with Chicago. The Giants won the opener, 10-6, taking advantage of three Cub errors to score four in the eighth, but Hank Sauer's 25th homer helped Johnny Klippstein take the second, 6-2.

Warren Spahn cooled off the sizzling St. Louis Cards as rookie Ed Mathews hit a two-run homer off Joe Presko for a 2-1 Boston triumph. Stan Musial's 14th homer was one of the Cards' seven hits.

Yanks, Indians Lose
The New York Yankees lost, 7-0, to Chicago but their American League lead remained at three games because Cleveland also fell before Boston, 5-4. The Red Sox's triumph over Bobby Feller left them in third place only ½ game off the pace.

Washington ended a four-game losing streak, whipping St. Louis, 6-2, on Bob Porterfield's five-hitter, to pull within ½ game of the Yanks. Allie Clark's two doubles drove in all the runs for Philadelphia in a 4-3 squeaker with Detroit.

A Bit Of History About Your Own Adams County

This is the twentieth in a series of historical talks given over Radio Station WGET by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Adeline Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

In his active life of 67 years George Washington at the call of duty, spent much of his time traveling. This does not seem remarkable to us of the present day, for all people travel, and men of affairs, it seems are always going places. But when one considers the conditions under which one had to travel in Washington's day, and the time consumed in what we today would consider a mere afternoon's drive, one comes to appreciate what must have been taken out of the life of one who, by circumstances, had to undergo a veritable ordeal of going about on important business.

Because of the slow rate of movement over roads which we today would hardly recognize as roads, and because of the comparatively short distances possible to be covered in a traveling day, Washington had to stop at many places for rest and refreshment. Consequently there are many places where, because of his national significance, pride is still expressed that he honored these places with his presence.

Washington Visited Here
Adams County is proud that it can point out a house, still standing, where George Washington spent a night. It was on October 23, 1794. The occasion for Washington's visit to our county grew out of the Whiskey Rebellion in Western Pennsylvania in 1794. This event in our history is well-known, and all that need be said here is that it was an organized uprising in the western counties of Pennsylvania against the collection of a federal internal revenue tax on whiskey which was a principal and profitable product of the people in that area.

The Federal Government could not ignore this resistance to its authority, and determined to meet force with force by ordering out militia from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia and Maryland to the number of about 15,000 to quell the rebellion. Washington, then president of the United States, decided to accompany the force, but the command was given to Governor Henry Lee, "Light-Horse Harry" Lee, father of General Robert E. Lee.

Washington left Philadelphia, then the capital of the United States, on Tuesday, September 30, 1794, and arrived at Carlisle on Saturday, October 4. There he remained, assisting in organizing the troops which came in from the different counties of Pennsylvania until Sunday morning, October 12, when he left for Shippensburg. There he dined, and arrived in Chambersburg to spend the night. He then moved on west where he received the news that the rebels had made peace with General Lee.

Changed Return Route
On Monday, October 20, he was in Bedford preparing to leave on the return journey to Philadelphia. Unfortunately Washington's diary between October 21 and December 31 is missing, and so we are not able exactly to know his movements for the next few days from that most reliable source. It is generally agreed that he returned to Chambersburg, and there determined not to return by the way down the Cumberland Valley to Harrisburg which was the route by which he had come out.

He rather determined to return by way of York and Lancaster, and so turned east at Chambersburg to cross the South Mountains and enter York County, the most western part of which was the area which is now Adams County. It is said that he was in Shippensburg on this return, but if so, this must have been before he entered Chambersburg. In a letter written on October 26, he is said to have stated that from Fort Littleton to Skinner's, then went on to Strasburg and Shippensburg.

The reason why it is believed that he came into present Adams County, directly from Chambersburg, instead of having come from Shippensburg directly, is that just two weeks later another traveler made the same trip that Washington must have made, and we have his detailed diary account of his movements. He was Theophile Cazenove, a Frenchman, who made a tour through New Jersey and Pennsylvania in the interest of learning about the country for purposes of investment. Naturally he kept a full and careful record of all he saw and did.

From his diary, or journal, we learn that he left Carlisle on Friday, November 7, and arrived that night in Shippensburg. On Saturday, the 8th, he left Shippensburg and took luncheon at Chambersburg, had supper at Thompson's, 12½ miles from Chambersburg, which he says was on the top of the mountain, and so must have been at Newman's Hill. He says "The road from Chambersburg here is very bad. It goes over the mountain range called here 'South Ridge.' It is hard work for the horses. Here I met the York County surveyor, who was surveying the land of these high mountains for some speculators who lately located these lands at the land office for six pence per acre. Left Thompson, and by five more miles of bad road, through the mountain, and the rest fair, arrived at Russell's Tavern, nine miles, fair lodging for a tavern isolated on the highway, where there is no better one for 30 or 40 miles. This Russell's Tavern is in York County in the plain, three or four miles from the South Mountain."

It was to this same Russell's Tavern that George Washington had come on Thursday, October 23. This house is still standing on the road leading from Mummaburg to Hunterstown, a few hundred yards west of the main highway from Gettysburg to Carlisle and three and a half miles north of Gettysburg. In more recent years it has been known as the Carey House, having for many years been owned by John Carey.

Marker Is Dedicated
In 1794 it was owned and operated by Joshua Russell, whose establishment is so well recommended by Cazenove. In 1938 the Gettysburg Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution dedicated a marker at the Carey House, and the Pennsylvania Department of Highways erected a roadside marker indicating the house. The marker is to be seen on the Carlisle Rd. just a short distance north of the crossing of the Mummaburg and Hunterstown Rd.

This road, which we have been identifying as the Mummaburg - Hunterstown Rd. for purposes of locating the Carey House was part of what was in the early days the main east-west road through the greater part of the county. It came into the county at Berwick, now Abbotstown, went on to New Oxford, then a mile west of New Oxford it swung away from the present line of the Lincoln Highway and ran into Hunterstown, then westward through Goldenville, Mummaburg, Hilltown to the line of the present new part of the Lincoln Highway west of Hilltown.

Washington left Russell's Tavern on the morning of Friday, October 24, and lodged that night in York. On Saturday, the 25th, he went on to Wright's Ferry, where he spent the night, and the next day, Sunday, October 26, began his journey to Philadelphia, which he reached about noon on Tuesday, October 28. Thus he had crossed the entire width of the present county, from west to east, and had spent one night within its limits.

Made Soil Survey
In order to get an idea of what Washington saw as he traveled through present Adams County, and how he came to York on the night after he had stayed at the Russell Tavern, we can again follow the detailed account which Cazenove gave of his same experiences two weeks later.

Referring to the area around Russell's Tavern, Cazenove says: "In this district the soil is of different kinds; the price in general of the 'midding good land' which is not worth as much as the limestone land, from six to ten pounds per acre. . . . The land yields 12 to 15 bushels wheat, 20 bushels of corn, 15 to 40 bushels of buckwheat, one to one and a half tons of hay. . . ."

"There are the mills of three flour merchants within the radius of a mile. They send the flour to Baltimore."

German Inhabitants
Leaving Russell's Tavern on the 9th, he says: "And after ten miles of travel and bad land, although cleared, partly plowed and pasture, poor farms, then the country rises slightly, broken by wide and low hills, better cultivated. The soil is red gravel. At Abbotstown, 15 miles, had dinner with Jones, Mr. Abbott, a farmer, a half mile from here, started this place as a town or village."

"The inhabitants are all Germans. . . . From Abbott's Tavern the country for six or eight miles is a large plain, whose land is inferior and of red gravel. Then the land rises gradually. . . . the quality of the soil becomes better, generally limestone land. . . . And so he came to York, as we believe George Washington had come."

As we now drive our fine highways, and cross over Newman's Hill with hardly slackening speed; as we breeze over to Chambersburg on an errand and are home again with the errand done in an easy two hours, let us be thankful for the comforts and facilities of modern improvements. To make us all the more appreciative, we might think of George Washington and other travelers of those olden days plodding along the rutted, rocky roads, making at the best about 30 miles in a long, hard day. Surely after such an ordeal they were glad for a tavern like Russell's of which there was no better, as Cazenove says, for 30 or 40 miles.

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN

The Associated Press

Vacation time is the season when many a nice girl goes astray. She meets new friends, different from her neighborhood pals. She visits new places, unlike those to which she has been accustomed. Unless her parents have alerted her to some of the little dangers which might be lurking in unexpected waysides, she might not sense it until she is entangled in an undesirable web.

Most summer heartaches evolve from a handful of missteps. If a girl would just make a clear appraisal of any proposition that hasn't been encountered before, asking herself whether there are any drawbacks, she'd have nothing to worry about. Here are some suggestions:

1. It doesn't pay to waste time with married men. And don't believe 'em when they say their wives want them to have fun. So what? While you're flitting away time with an older man, you'll probably pass up a nice young man your own age.
2. Careful Of Drinking. Even if your family permits you to have cocktails at home don't drink with strangers. If you are partying with a group and it seems like the thing to do, accept a drink, sip it occasionally, if you like, but don't think you must drink to keep up with a crowd.
3. Things are likely to get very cozy at summer resorts. People have been known to scurry back and forth to each other's rooms. The first thing you know you are likely to be partying in a gay wolf's room in the wee hours of the morn. Of course he'll look harmless, at first — they all do. Make a rule not to visit boys' rooms.

4. If you are asked to go for a moonlight sail, make sure you have company that is trustworthy. It is not enough that other young girls are being paired off with young men. You should know how well these girls know their male companions, and you should be very well acquainted with your own date. Unless you are a super-swimmer you'll need the cooperation of the captain to get back home from a canoe, rowboat, power or sailboat trip.
5. Picnics Are Fun. But don't go to out-of-the-way picnic areas with strange companions. That "darling boy" you met last night can be just as fiendish as any drug store cowboy. If you plan to go picnicking with a new beau, suggest another couple whom you know well to accompany you.
6. If you are on a two-weeks

TV Applications Reach 700 Total

WASHINGTON (AP)—A total of 700 applications for new television stations have been received by the Communications Commission since the lifting of the TV freeze.

The commission announced yesterday that among the new station applications received yesterday was one from the Susquehanna Valley Television Corp., Lock Haven, Pa., for UHF channel 32.

Since the government agency started processing the applications for new stations this month, the commission has issued 24 grants—20 for commercial operations and the other four for strictly non-commercial, educational outlets.

your family for money so that you can leave the vacation resort under your own steam. Be independent and you'll have nothing to fear.

College Women Are Commissioned

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Pennsylvania State College co-ed is among 20 recent college graduates named by the Army for direct commissions in the Women's Army Corps.

Margaret Ann Leister, a graduate of Penn State, and the other 19 successful candidates were announced here yesterday.

She lives at 636 Sunset Rd., State College, Pa.

The women, chosen on a competitive basis, will be named second lieutenants in the WAC section of the Army Organized Reserve Corps. They will take a five-month training course at Fort Lee, Va., starting early in September, and may then apply for regular army appointment.

The common daisy is a wild variety of chrysanthemum, and although it grows over most of temperate America, is an import from southeast Europe and Asia.

Stamp News

By SYD KRONISH
The Associated Press

MANY LATIN American countries have issued commemorative stamps to honor the 500th anniversary of the birth of Queen Isabella of Spain. The latest of these is Nicaragua which has put forth a 10-value set, reports the New York Stamp Co. Five are for air mail and five regular. Depicted are regal portraits of the Queen who subsidized Christopher Columbus' voyages to the New World, a view of the famed ship, Santa Maria, the three vessels of Columbus that made the 1492 trip, and an outline map of North and South America.

GUATEMALA has issued a commemorative set of four new stamps. Honored on these adhesives is Enriquez de Rivera who introduced printing to Guatemala in 1660. The designs are the same for all the stamps—a vignette portrait of Rivera, a quill in an inkwell and the dates 1660-1961. Rivera has appeared previously on Guatemala stamps—the A-131 and the AP-29.

AUSTRIA's latest stamp is a 1.50-schilling blue commemorating the meeting of the "International Union of Socialist Youth" (IUSY) held in Vienna, reports Edwin Mueller. This organization is widely known as strongly anti-communist and has over 500,000 members in 25 countries including the U. S. The youth camps were previously run at Copenhagen, Denmark; Ebensee, Austria, and Stockholm, Sweden. The central design of the new stamp reveals the symbol of the IUSY.

THE EIRE Philatelic Association has produced a new handbook containing the postal markings of Ireland. This booklet of 25 pages gives the Gaelic-English listing of all post offices of Ireland, including the six counties in Northern Ireland.

THREE SPANISH colonies have issued new sets of semi-postals. Spanish Sahara's design illustrates native women. Spanish Guinea's design depicts native flowers. Ifni's set pictures a woman holding a baby. The additional values go to the Children's Fund and native philanthropic organizations. The values are the same for each country. They are: 5-plus-5 centimos, 50-plus-10 centimos and 2 pesetas plus 30 centimos.

THAILAND has issued a new airmail stamp picturing the Garuda, mythological bird of Vishnu. The 2-baht blue shows the strange-looking bird flying over the Bangkok skyline. The Garuda originally

Electrocuted In School Basement

BOYERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A 67-year-old Boyertown man was electrocuted when he fell against a 220-volt wire in a switchboard in the basement of the Boyertown high school.

The victim, Charles Miller, and Gerald Grimm, 15, were working on a conduit Tuesday, when the accident occurred. Grimm, son of Miller's employer, Russell Grimm, ran to the street and called Henry Frey, an electric company lineman. Frey, who was Miller's brother-in-law pulled him from the wire and applied artificial respiration.

Dr. Elmer Sommers, of Boyertown, pronounced Miller dead.

appeared on a 1925 airmail of that country.

STAMP NOTES . . . The Dominican Republic has issued a 1-centavo light blue postal tax stamp. It shows the tuberculosis sanatorium in Santiago . . . France's latest stamp is a 15-franc red honoring the 1,400th anniversary of the Abbey St. Croix at Poitiers . . . Lebanon has issued a four-value set showing the Cedars of Lebanon.

Founded in 1701, Detroit is the oldest large-sized city west of the Atlantic seaboard.

Chapter Is Found Missing In Bible

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Rev. G. Houston Patterson of Bluefield, W. Va., found a chapter missing in the Bible—much to his embarrassment.

He was conducting the bacalaureate service for the graduating class of Union Theological Seminary. For several minutes, he thumbed the massive Bible in the pulpit while the audience waited and watched.

Finally, he said: "I will read the 23rd Psalm."

A bit red-faced, he then added: "I am reading this psalm today for a very special reason. It is one with which I hope you will never be confronted. I find myself with a Bible from which the 23rd chapter of St. Luke is unaccountably missing."

EASTON, Pa. (AP)—The body of Mrs. Fred H. Freck, 61, of nearby Wilson Borough, was found in Lehigh Canal a few hours after her husband left for work Tuesday. She was last reported seen on the canal bridge at Glendon in what was described as a "dazed" condition.

At one point the islands of Bali and Java are separated by little more than a mile.

2 Airmail Pioneers Meet After 26 Years

DALLAS (AP)—Two men who helped start an airmail service here 26 years ago were reunited recently and reminisced about the inauspicious beginning of the service 26 years ago.

Earl Wadsworth was superintendent of airmail then and Frank Lewandowsky was a postoffice mechanic. Lewandowsky accepted the first pouches flown in and put them in a Model-T to take them to town. The plane had been late and the regular truck driver had gone. There was no ceremony.

On the way he met Wadsworth when the latter hitched a ride.

REFUSE FRENCH PLEA FOR HUGE APPROPRIATION

WASHINGTON (P)—The United States has promised France an extra 186 million dollars to help step up arms production—but has turned down an urgent French plea for another 439 millions for the same purpose.

The French government was reportedly "shocked," and the French press critical.

Diplomatic authorities said the new funds would help finance production of a new French-designed fighter plane and some artillery shell production.

But authorities said the larger sum was turned down because of the Congressional cut in foreign aid funds and existing priority arrangements.

To Cause Unemployment

French Ambassador Henri Bonnet conferred with State Department officials Tuesday on details of French rearmament plans.

He and others have said U. S. failure to support the expanded program—costing 625 million dollars over a three-year period—would force some arms plants to close down, cause unemployment, and play into Communist hands.

The American note offering 186 millions is said to have left the way open for a possible restudy of the French situation later this year.

Reports from Paris said the French government was shocked by the turn-down. Defense Minis-

Says Democracy Will Not Collapse

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (P)—The Soviet Union has erred in basing its foreign policy on the belief that the western way of life will collapse, a United Nations representative told an audience here.

"Democracy will not collapse if it remains strong enough to defend itself and true to its traditions," said Ernest A. Gross, deputy United States representative to the United Nations, last night.

Gross said Soviet leaders have the mistaken idea that their system will dominate the world and that they can continue with impunity to violate the basic rules of international conduct."

ter Rene Plevin said he would meet with General Pierre Koenig, head of the National Defense Committee, to consider consequences.

The French Press went so far as to say France would now be unable to do its full part under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization program. There was sharp criticism of the U. S. in some centers.

GET $8,000 LOOT

PITTSBURGH (P)—Safe crackers stole an estimated $8,000 from a safe in the Westinghouse Electric Corp. offices Tuesday night in the new Gateway Center project. E. C. Denne, assistant treasurer for Westinghouse, said the theft looked like an inside job since the safe's heavy outer door was not damaged.

When he was 70 years old, in 1828, Noah Webster published his American Dictionary.

U. S. PUSHING DEVELOPMENT OF MINDANAO

MANNILA (P)—The Mutual Security Administration (MSA) is planning large-scale development of Mindanao in the southern Philippines aimed at making the island republic economically self-sufficient.

The program calls for opening up fertile regions—some of them unexplored—for agricultural development, the harnessing of hydro-electric power and irrigation and resettlement of Filipinos from crowded northern islands.

Dr. Clarence Decker, assistant administrator of the MSA for the Far East, visited Mindanao and other southern islands in mid-June. He was accompanied by Dr. Roland R. Renne, chief of the MSA mission in Manila who worked out the development program with the Philippine government.

37,537 Square Miles

Mindanao, covering 36,537 square miles near the equator, is slightly larger than the state of Indiana. Next to Luzon, some 600 miles to the north, it the largest island in the Philippines.

Much of the island is high plateau, with jungle-covered shoulders rearing into high, extinct volcanic peaks. It is believed capable of development sufficient to raise Filipino living standards throughout the islands and provide room for population growth for the next 50 years.

Only along the fringe of the northern section and in the south at Zamboanga, Cotabato and Davao has agricultural development made much progress. One notable exception has been in the highlands of Bukidnon province where the American-owned Philippines packing corporation has developed a large pineapple plantation.

The MSA plans initially to build roads into regions promising the likeliest immediate development. The tropical frontier is rich in minerals, in addition to its agricultural and hydro-electric potentials.

Problems still to be solved by the Philippines government include an agreement with the island's Moro (Filipino Mohammedan) leaders on the resettlement of Catholic Filipinos.

In nearly 400 years of Spanish and American domination, the Moros have generally remained aloof from participation in Filipino af-

Woman Polio Victim Travels 9,000 Miles

PITTSBURGH (P)—A former Johnstown, Pa. woman who three weeks ago lay in an iron lung in India, stricken by polio, is being treated in the U. S. today after a 9,000-mile journey by ambulance and airplane.

She is Mrs. Evelyn Bauer, 25, wife of a Mennonite missionary. She was brought back by officials of the Mennonite Church and is now at the D. T. Watson Home in Leetsdale, near Pittsburgh.

Also to be contended with are nomadic tribes in the unexplored mountainous areas of the island.

TOAST BUT NOT ROAST WHILE IN BRIGHT SUN

By BETTY CLARKE
The Associated Press

The big summer broil is under way. From coast to coast feminine pulchritude is exposed to the sun for better — or worse. And many times it is for worse.

If you've ever had a bad sunburn, you need not be reminded of that big fry. Painful experience can make us aware of the effects of too much sunshine for many years. Sometimes we become so fearful of the sun's rays, however, that we dodge the sun even on the way to market.

It is possible to corral the beneficial rays of the sun by common sense. The first rule is to time your exposure to the sun. The second precaution is to use a good suntan oil which should protect you from the sun's drying effects, a contributing cause of wrinkles and irregular pigmentation.

If your goal is to tan, and you are fair-skinned, you will not be able to accomplish a honey hue overnight. Most girls expect miracles from suntan lotions. As one complained: "I bought a suntan lotion because I always redden and blister. The first day I rubbed in on one arm as a sort of test, I burned all over except my arm—it was perfectly white. I expected to be tanned by the lotion, but found it was a waste of money."

That is a silly letter. The girl found a lotion which prevented a painful sunburn, permitting her to absorb healthful sun rays, perhaps, and she wasn't satisfied. Her suntan lotion — obviously a good one — would have protected her and afforded a gradual tan. But people who burn easily cannot tan overnight. Most times they are lucky to tan at all.

A good suntan lotion which screens out burning rays can help you if used faithfully. But tanning depends on the skin of the individual, and there will be many different reactions from the use of the same lotion.

Be sure your lotion is a good one. Consult your physician but don't be a guinea pig and trust to a lotion about which you know nothing. There are many good suntan lotions available — one has been approved by the committee on cosmetics of The American Medical Association.

DEFENSE WILL TAKE MUCH OF STEEL OUTPUT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon expects defense production to take double its normal share of the nation's steel output during the next six months.

An official handling military production problems said this will necessarily mean less steel, temporarily, for civilian use, and a return in part to the system of wartime priorities for military production.

He said the nation lost 20 million tons of steel output during the 54 days of recent strike.

May Use Air Transport

Defense orders would have taken about 15 per cent of that production, he said. To make up this three million ton loss, the military's share of the first 20 million tons production after resumption of full production will have to be increased to 30 per cent, or six million tons.

To meet urgent needs of some plants, the official added, air shipments of raw materials may be authorized.

In order to see that the military gets first crack at available steel, the Defense Department has assigned 30 special officers to stay at the mills.

The move is part of a program directed by Munitions Board Chairman J. D. Small to meet intense competition expected from civilian manufacturers.

Small's order, announced yesterday, has the backing of the Defense Department, National Production Authority and other mobilization agencies.

Military procurement officials were authorized to negotiate amended contracts and delivery schedules with military suppliers. Additional payments to cover overtime for extra shift operations were approved.

Will Cost More

A Defense Department spokesman said that while steel for the military will cost a little more than before the strike, it is not anticipated that a deficiency appropriation will be required.

This official said military production will not return to the pre-strike level before the end of this year. Many fabricating plants which kept going on reserve stocks of steel during the strike will have to slow down until new steel starts coming in from reopened plants.

Meanwhile, price control officials said that a price increase probably will be given to aluminum producers and fabricators. A decision is expected this week on the amount of the increase.

Ask More For Aluminum

The Big Three producers, Aluminum Company of America, Reynolds and Kaiser, have applied for ceiling price increases of 2 to 2.35 cents a pound on raw aluminum and 10 to 12 1/2 per cent on semi-fabricated and fabricated aluminum products. They have signed contracts calling for higher wages if a price increase is granted.

A price increase on raw aluminum would mean higher prices for aluminum products sold to consumers.

Abbottstown

ABBOTTSTOWN—Fire broke out Friday evening in a shed used for sawdust at the Rodgers saw mill on Water St. Firemen were called around 6 o'clock and later it started to smolder again. They were called out the second time at 1:30 a.m. Considerable damage resulted.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Rodgers recently spent their vacation at Atlantic City.

Earl Butt recently fell while helping to construct a building and suffered a badly sprained leg.

COLONEL STROME DIES

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Col. Frank P. Strome, 65, retired army surgeon and former director of the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, died at his Drexel Hill home late Monday. Col. Strome served in the state government from 1936 to 1940, was surgeon of the Third Service Command during World War II and also served as medical officer at Valley Forge Military Academy after retiring from the Army in 1946.

OLD FLATIRON BUILDING NOW FIFTY YEARS OLD

NEW YORK (AP)—The once-famous Flatiron Building is observing its 50th birthday like a lonely old freak—too short to show up on today's skyline, too far downtown to have any glamor, too durable to excite alarmists any more.

Today, only a handful of tourists visit the 21-story building and most of them want to go up in the Flatiron only to take pictures of other taller buildings.

Early Skyscraper

Today, nobody is afraid to walk on the Flatiron's side of the street. Years ago, many pedestrians stayed on the other side. They feared that a strong wind would topple the thin structure which is shaped, as one critic said in 1902, like a "stingy piece of pie."

By now, he Flatiron has convinced the public it's here to stay.

"And it will be here another 150 years," says Superintendent George Bonhag. "This was one of the first skyscrapers in New York built on a steel frame."

In 1902, when the Flatiron was completed, it became the number one tourist attraction of its day. Its picture was reproduced on postcards sent all over the world.

In 1904, William Ordway Partridge, an artist, called it "a monstrosity, a disgrace to our city, an outrage to our sense of the artistic and a menace to life."

It was built on a small triangular island on 23rd Street, where Fifth Ave. reluctantly crosses Broadway. It stands 280 feet high. It has frontages of 214.6 feet on Broadway, 85 feet on 22nd St., 197.6 feet on Fifth Ave., and only four or five feet on 23rd St.

Offices occupying the apex come to a point only three or four feet wide inside, only wide enough to get a chair in. Frank unsey, the publisher, used to have an office on the 18th floor, in the corner. He had the floor raised so that he could get a better view of the two rivers bounding Manhattan and also a better view of employees working before the throne room.

Increased Wind —?

When the Flatiron was built, some neighbors complained that its strange design increased the wind. It's still one of the windiest corners in New York.

In the old days, local drugstore cowboys used to watch women's skirts blowing up. The cop on the 23rd street beat was forever chasing them. This, according to legend, gave birth to the expression, "twenty-three ski-doo."

The Flatiron building is strange in various ways. Its top floor is above the attic. Originally, the building was built to a height of 20 stories, plus an attic. Later a 21st floor was added. The attic, used only for water tanks and equipment, still lies between the 20th and 21st floors.

The very top of the building's apex is adorned by statues of two cherub boys holding scrolls around a big tablet bearing the initials of the builder, George A. Fuller.

The majority of watermelons consumed in the United States reach the market in late spring and early summer.

STEEL SUPPLIES TO BE TIGHT FOR SEVERAL WEEKS

NEW YORK (AP)—The giant U. S. Steel Corp., just out from under a crippling strike, will reach normal production in about two weeks but steel supplies will remain tight for several months.

That was the report of Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the largest of the American steel companies, to a news conference Tuesday. He said the nation will continue to feel the pinch of the recent 54-day steel strike through the first quarter of next year.

Fairless said his company scheduled operations at about 47 per cent of rated capacity this week. Operations averaged about 60 per cent of capacity, he said, in the strike-ridden three-month quarter ended June 30, compared with 103.7 per cent in the first quarter—a record high.

Figures Not Available

Financial figures for U. S. Steel's second quarter were a victim of the strike. The company said its office workers were unable to enter the plants during the walkout to get the necessary information, and figures are presently unavailable.

There were no doubts the company made money during the June quarter, however, E. M. Voorhees, chairman of the finance committee, said the company earned a net profit but that he could not elaborate further.

Directors did declare the usual quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the common stock, payable Sept. 10 to shareholders of record Aug. 8, and the quarterly

Governor Fine To Address VFW

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine will address the annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting Aug. 3-8 in Los Angeles.

The governor's office said he would leave Pittsburgh Wednesday and may make a number of stops before reaching the West Coast. Fine was in Pittsburgh to address a state police chiefs' convention.

dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock, payable Aug. 20 to holders of record Aug. 5.

Fairless said earnings figures should be available not later than the latter part of August.

$150 Million Costs

In the first quarter of this year, U. S. Steel reported profits of $43,534,212 or $1.43 a common share.

The strike resulted in an increase of employment costs to U. S. Steel of more than 150 million dollars a year at full operations, Fairless said. He added that the company's 170,000 to 180,000 steelworkers who were on strike lost an average of $600 per employee during the shutdown.

Fairless declined to speculate on the possibility of a strike in the coal industry, saying only that the company has coal reserves on hand for well over 60 days' operations.

Expansion and modernization plans have not been altered by the strike, the steel chief said. Work on the big new Fairless Works mill at Morrisville, Pa., is about 65 per cent complete. It will be in partial operation some time during the fourth quarter of this year, barring unforeseen delays, Fairless said.

Fairless estimated U. S. Steel lost between six and seven million tons of steel production as a result of the strike.

Plan Joint Visit

Fairless said that he and Philip Murray, president of the CIO United Steelworkers, plan to visit the corporation's principal points of production together, some time after September, to talk over common problems with labor and management leaders at the local plant level.

"I believe, and Murray agrees," the steel executive said, "that many of our problems begin at the plant level. They often are just little problems then, but by the time they get to our desks they're great big problems."

"We both believe there's a better way of handling these problems than by slugging it out with a strike."

Fairless was asked to comment on an accusation by Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam that the steel industry forced the government to provide an "unjustified price increase" as part of the strike settlement. Putnam said in a letter to Ellis Arnall, head of the Office of Price Stabilization: "The steel industry was in a position to prevent the resumption of production of steel for guns, ships, tanks, planes, ammunition, electronics and other vital military equipment unless it got this unjustified price increase."

Called "Unfair"

Said Fairless, in comment: "Mr. Putnam's statement was an unfair attempt to shift the responsibility for the steel strike from the union and the government where it rightfully belongs. Nothing he can say or do will accomplish that. I may wish to comment further on Mr. Putnam's statement at a future time."

The government authorized the industry to raise carbon steel prices by $5.20 a ton as of July 26—equal to an increase of 4.7 per cent of the present average prices.

LEWIS BEGINS CONTRACT TALK

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis reportedly has begun talks with a major part of the soft coal industry, probably to lay the groundwork for full-scale contract negotiations.

The same percentage increases applies to prices of alloy and stainless steels.

"More than two-thirds of this increase in steel prices is attributed by government officials to past increases in steel-making costs, including the recent freight rate increase, and not to the current increase in employment costs."

Says Some Toll Roads Justified

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Motor Federation has fallen into line with its parent national organization in recognizing that toll roads are justified in certain situations.

The PMP executive committee adopted the new policy at a meeting here Tuesday but at the same time urged that adequate free routes be maintained in good condition paralleling the toll roads.

The same policy was adopted by the American Automobile Association only recently. Both the national and the state organizations previously had opposed toll roads such as the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

In other action, the committee took a step at variance with the AAA in opposing federal taxes on gasoline.

The national group recently recommended that so long as the federal government taxes motorists each state should receive the equivalent of the revenues collected within its borders.

participated on the industry side but the obvious choice would be Harry M. Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association and the man who does all the negotiating for association members. These operators represent about half of the annual soft coal tonnage mined by the UMW.

Littlestown FIRE COMPANY CARNIVAL PLANS ARE COMPLETED

Final plans for the annual carnival to be held next week were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Alpha Fire Company No. 1 on Tuesday evening at the engine house. The affair will be held on the community playground. Special entertainment has been scheduled for each evening and there will be rides, games and refreshments. Members of the company are requested to come to the playground this evening, Friday evening and Saturday to help erect the stands and make other preparations for the affair. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the company will assist the firemen.

President Bernard M. Selby presided at the meeting. Secretary Harry W. Badders presented his report. Robert Gordon and Kenneth Eyer were nominated for membership. Carroll Ooster, Lloyd Harner and Clair Redding were appointed to serve as an investigating committee. Frederick Kauffman and Harry Strine were elected to membership. Bills ordered paid amounted to $248.30; $184.50 of this amount was received from the relief fund. The company which carries the annual premium of life and accident insurance on the members, informed the firemen that the medical allowance has been increased from $100 to $500, without additional premium. Receipts amounted to $75.52 for the past month. Of this amount, $25 was received from Edward M. Allison, Littlestown R. D., and Elmer King, Littlestown R. D., for services rendered. Fire Chief Glenn E. Ohler reported four calls answered during July.

Truck Foreman Resigns
It was announced that three bids had been received for the ladder which the company had for sale. It was purchased by the Littlestown Canning Company for $17.50. Truck Foreman Levi Hull presented his resignation and it was accepted. The resignation will become effective on July 29 and Dennis S. Wallick was appointed to replace Mr. Hull and fill the unexpired term until election in January. CIVIL RIGHTS CONTINUES TO BE BIG ISSUE

By The Associated Press
Republicans kept the civil rights pot boiling today for the purpose of cooking the Democrats' goose.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign advisory committee, said the selection of Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama as the Democratic vice presidential nominee shows the Democratic party intends to do nothing constructive about civil rights.

Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, Eisenhower's GOP vice presidential running mate, told newsmen in Fresno, Calif., however, that Sparkman is not a true Southern candidate and is known to be completely pro-Truman.

Some Are Unhappy

It was President Truman's insistence on federal civil rights legislation that split the Democratic party in 1948 and lost the electoral votes of four Southern states. Some Democratic leaders in the South are unhappy about the party's 1952 stand on civil rights and have not yet decided whether to support the Democratic ticket of Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Sparkman.

Chairman Arthur Summerfield of the GOP National Committee rubbed more salt in the wounds yesterday with the assertion that Stevenson and Sparkman are "hand-picked candidates of President Truman" and will be "expected to carry on the Truman tradition."

Sparkman, in Washington, said he will have something to say about civil rights in response to a series of questions in a telegram from Rep. Powell, New York Negro Democrat. Sparkman said Powell's communication is one of 15,000 he has received since his nomination and will be answered in its turn.

At the Illinois capital, Gov. Stevenson made a few remarks on civil rights issues in his first news conference since the Democrats nominated him.

He repeated a previously expressed view that fair employment practices legislation is primarily a state responsibility.

He said all citizens should have "equal opportunities and equal political rights."

Would Rinse T-H Law

Stevenson also said he believes the Taft-Hartley labor law, a prime target of union labor leaders needs substantial revision but not necessarily repeal. He said he views the Democratic platform pledge of repeal as merely a method of accomplishing the same result through an entirely new law.

Commenting on Eisenhower's expressed goal of an eventual 40 billion dollar annual cut in federal spending, Stevenson said he hoped "neither candidate or party would offer hopes that are forlorn and at the same time be demanding a defense establishment to accomplish our common objective."

At his campaign headquarters in Denver, Eisenhower booked an engagement to attend a 37-tribe Indian ceremonial at Gallup, N. M., Aug. 10. It will give him an opportunity to put in some looks for the election of Republican senators and House members this fall in New Mexico and Arizona.

Help Congressman

Eisenhower has said he wants the GOP campaign to give as much emphasis to the congressional races as to his bid for the presidency.

Eisenhower announced he will not take sides in primary contests between Republicans, but will support the winners "to the limit."

In the South, uncertainty brewed in both the Democratic and Republican camps. Three Republican factions in Mississippi were at odds.

On the Democratic side, former Lt. Gov. Sam Lumpkin of Tupelo,

U. S. FINDS TWO NEW FIELDS OF URANIUM ORE

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—Precious uranium ore for America's ever-expanding atomic program will soon be coming from two new foreign sources—South Africa and Australia—the United States revealed today in a report also disclosing substantial progress in developing improved atomic weapons during the past six months.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) in its 12th semi-annual report to Congress further disclosed that additional uranium may come from new facilities in Canada—long an American supplier—and that new sources within the United States itself are nearly ready for initial production.

Tempo Is Increased

Implying a vastly increased tempo for its entire atomic enterprise, the AEC revealed that its plants for producing atomic fissionable materials for explosives and other uses had at times been pushed even beyond their designed operating capacity—even as new ones are being built and still others are in prospect under the recently approved $1.2-billion-dollar expansion program.

The AEC's report to Congress also listed:

1. Progress in the development of atomic propulsion for aircraft—with certain phases of design and development work having gained momentum in the past half-year.

2. Continuance of a project to build a second type of atomic engine for possible use in a submarine—even as work progresses on building a hull for a submarine which will house an atomic power plant of a different type.
3. Research accomplishments offering hope for the development of a powerful medicine with which to treat people severely exposed to atomic radiation.
4. Significant advances towards developing improved atomic reactors—or "furnaces"—which might be used some day for producing useful atomic power and for other purposes.
5. Increased production of raw uranium ore from existing domestic sources—even as "new sources, both foreign and domestic, are nearly ready for initial production."

Regarding weapons development, the AEC followed its usual policy of guarded, close-to-the-vest statements.
"Although, for reasons of security, it is impossible here to specify the record of accomplishments in weapons development," the AEC said, "it may be stated that substantial progress was made."

In a second reference to hush-hush phases of the weapons work, the AEC declared:
"It is not possible to describe publicly the advances made in the atomic weapons program, but details of the work are enumerated currently in classified secret reports to the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy of the Congress."

Colorado Warden Given Suspension

DENVER (AP)—A two-year suspension from his job as warden of Colorado's penitentiary was handed Roy Best, president of the National Warden's Association, by the state Civil Service Commission yesterday.

Best, who was acquitted in two court cases during the past year, and a half, said he will appeal the "ridiculous decision" to the state courts.

The unanimous decision of the three-man Civil Service Commission did not specify the counts upon which the warden was convicted.

EDS DISTORTED ANK'S NOTES ARMY DECLARES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army's Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow n't write in his behind-the-iron-train diary all the statements of Red propagandists said he did not that the Reds distorted many of the notes, however, resulted in Grow's conviction by court martial Tuesday.

he Army, in a surprise move today, said the Russians published portions of the general's personal journal in such a fashion that it appeared he pictured the United States as a potential aggressor when he really was referring to the Soviets.

Release Excerpts

As an example, the Army released excerpts from Grow's diary which he said repeatedly he believed Russia felt that 1951 was ripe time for war in Europe. The Army said, twisted to indicate America wanted to go to war in 1951.

his unexpected twist in the old story of the diary Grow while military attaché to Russia came one day after a court trial of eight top-ranking generals convicted him of improperly giving information and of not guarding it. He was sentenced to a formal reprimand and suspension from command for six months with deterrents to further promotion.

OLICE SEEKING BRUTAL SLAYER

OKON, Okla. (AP)—The nude, devastated body of a girl, believed to be a brunette, 13 or 14 years old, was found lying in a creek bed west of here yesterday with the letters R-A-T carved into her chest.

An immediate search was launched for the savage killer, but no clues were uncovered. Claude Vymour, state crime bureau agent, said Oklahoma police are searching for a blood-stained vehicle which could lead to the murderer.

"Someone's car must be stained with blood from carrying it today to the creek bed," Seymour said. "When we find the car we might find the killer."

A physician who examined the body said he was unable to determine if sex was the motive. Both hands were cut off; one foot was partly severed. Canadian county Sheriff Tiny Royle estimated she had been dead 24 hours when found.

,642 KILLED ON HIGHWAYS, REPORT SHOWS

HARRISBURG (AP)—One person as killed every five hours and other injured every eight minutes on Pennsylvania highways during 1951, the State Bureau of Highway Safety said today. The bureau issued a booklet in which it reported 1,642 persons, including 565 pedestrians, died in traffic accidents—an increase of eight per cent above 1950. The number of injured during the year totaled some 65,643, the bureau said.

Despite the higher death toll, the commonwealth's traffic death rate in 1951 remained at 5.5, the same as the previous year and well below the national average, said J. E. Milley, the bureau's research and statistical chief.

"It's our lowest rate in history," he said, "although last year we had a record number of 3,267,186 vehicle registrations and a much higher gas consumption than the year before."

"Also, our rate beats that of any comparable state including California, Michigan and New York," he added.

The death rate is based on the number of traffic fatalities per one hundred thousand vehicle miles.

Pedestrian Fatal Drop
"For the first six months of this year we're running very close to last year's showing," Smiley said. "Right now we are just about 14-15 fatalities over what the total was at this point last year."

He said the "brightest spot" at the minute is in 1952's pedestrian fatalities. The number is running lower than ever before.

"Sometimes pedestrian deaths amount to 55 per cent of the total. Right now they are about 33-34 per cent," he said.

Smiley credited this improvement to drivers becoming more "pedestrian conscious." "This is the result of educational and enforcement programs," he asserted.

The Life Of Adlai Stevenson

Editor's Note: This third of a five-part series on the life of Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic nominee for president, covers the war years, the birth of the U. N. and the Alger Hiss case.

By ROGER F. LANE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—When he returned to Washington in 1941, Adlai Stevenson already had acquired a vision of America's place in the shrinking, strife-ridden world. His knowledge of international relations grew in succeeding years, until eventually he assisted in the birth of the United Nations and participated in the first and second General Assemblies.

By the middle 1940s, Stevenson was working on foreign policy problems with the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, John Foster Dulles and Sen. Tom Connally, all far better known than the public.

His original interest in the subject probably sprang from boyhood travels with his family in Europe and his experiences in 1926 on a tour of the Near East and Russia.

On Chicago Council

It ripened in the 1930s as a member, and finally president, of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations. The council welcomed foreign diplomats, debated their pronouncements and weighed possible effects on the United States of far-away events.

Its discussions—and Stevenson's voice—were out of harmony with the predominant sentiments of a city whose mayor once threatened to bust King George of England in the "smoot" and which became a stronghold of the America First movement.

Stevenson's willingness to swim against the tide gave a glimpse of a characteristic that reappeared in the Alger Hiss case and in some unpopular acts as governor of Illinois.

He held resolutely to his foreign policy views. In 1940 after Adolf Hitler's panzers sliced through Northern France to Paris, he became Chicago chairman of the William Allen White Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

On Shipyard Seizures

Stevenson returned to Washington as a special assistant to Navy Secretary Frank Knox, one of two Republicans then in FDR's Cabinet.

Knox put him to work laying legal groundwork for seizure of struck shipyards at Kearny, N. J. The machinery he devised served as a pattern for 60 subsequent seizures.

After Japan's Dec. 7, 1941, strike against Pearl Harbor plunged the U. S. into World War II, Stevenson was dispatched to the Caribbean area and the Panama Canal Zone to gather information on defense preparations.

Next, he accompanied Knox and high Navy officers on a tour of the nation's bastions in the Pacific.

Further wartime travels lay ahead. Before he was through, Stevenson visited Algeria, Tunis and Liberia in Africa, and Italy, France, England, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Germany in Europe.

Meeting With Eisenhower

In Italy, Stevenson met the man who eight years afterwards was to be his rival for the presidency—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The brief encounter occurred in the corridor of a Naples office building. Eisenhower asked how things were going and Stevenson said as well as could be expected. That's all there was to the exchange.

In 1945 Stevenson moved over a few notches into the domain of diplomacy proper.

The State Department, mindful of his growing experience, called on Stevenson to help promote public understanding of the forthcoming

United Nations conference at San Francisco.

When the conference started, press relations of the United States delegation sagged and Stevenson was given the job of sprucing them up. He performed creditably.

Aid To Stettinius

He served as deputy to former Secretary of State Stettinius, who headed the U. S. delegation, at the U. N. Preparatory Commission meeting in London in the fall of 1945. He filed Stettinius' shoes when the latter took sick.

He was "senior adviser" to the U. S. delegation at the first General Assembly of the U. N. in New York the following January. That fall, and in the 1947 meeting of the General Assembly, he served as an alternate delegate.

In his various capacities connected with the creation and early functions of the U. N., Stevenson was brought in touch with Alger Hiss.

He first met Hiss in 1933 when both were employed by the AAA. Their contact at this time was "frequent but not close or daily," in the words of the controversial deposition Stevenson made for use at the first trial of Hiss on perjury charges.

Cross Paths With Hiss

After 1933, Stevenson said he saw no more of Hiss for nearly 12 years. The two renewed their acquaintance early in 1945 when both were employed by the State Department.

In the next two years, Stevenson and Hiss followed official paths that verged and crossed several times.

This sort of contact continued intermittently into the latter part of 1947, when they had their final encounter—in New York. At that time, Stevenson was a U. N. alternate delegate and Hiss was connected with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Eighteen months passed. Stevenson now was governor of Illinois. Hiss stood accused in a Federal Court in New York of lying to conceal theft of secret U. S. documents.

Pursuant to a court order, Stevenson was approached on June 2, 1949, by a U. S. commissioner in Springfield, Ill. to answer some questions under oath.

The main questions concerned the length of Stevenson's acquaintance with Hiss, the history and circumstances of their association and whether—from what Stevenson had heard about Hiss from other persons up until then—he considered good or bad the accused's reputation for loyalty, integrity and truthfulness.

Stevenson answered the questions. He said Hiss had a good reputation, among their acquaintances in common, on each of the specific points raised.

Early this year, Stevenson was asked about the deposition by a reporter in a television interview. He related how it came about and added this:

Duty Of Citizens

"I'm a lawyer. I think that one of the most fundamental responsibilities, not only of every citizen but particularly of lawyers, is to give testimony in a court of law, to give it honestly and willingly, and it will be a very unhappy day for Anglo-Saxon justice when a man, even a man in public life, is too timid to state what he knows and what he has heard about a defendant in a criminal trial for fear that the defendant might later be convicted."

STEEL BOOSTS WILL AVERAGE $100 A FAMILY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall predicts the new steel price boost will cost the average American family about $100 a year in higher prices.

Arnall said in a television (NBC) interview that the $5.20 per ton price boost he signed reluctantly yesterday would touch off a new round of inflation.

He made it clear the steel increase was not his own choice, but was ordered by acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman. Arnall said last night it was "a very, very bitter pill for me."

Some of Arnall's close associates said the former Georgia governor may decide to quit as price chief, because he considers some of his main weapons for controlling prices broken.

Arnall and his aides fought bitterly to hold the steel price hike to $2.84 a ton permitted under the law and the existing price standards. Arnall has said that anything above that figure would break the price line.

OFS now is confronted with the demand of the aluminum industry for a price boost ranging from 10 to 12½ per cent. A high official said today he doesn't see how aluminum can be denied an increase in the face of the steel decision.

Scorched Northeast States Will Seed Clouds For Rain

BOSTON (AP)—Massachusetts and Connecticut took action today for some relief from a drought which has had most of New England in its costly grip for a month. The long dry spell has cost farmers so many millions of dollars already that an agriculture spokesman placed the value of rainfall at a million dollars an inch.

Costly Crop Losses
The Connecticut Valley Cigar Tobacco Associates—faced with an expensive crop loss—have authorized a Cambridge firm of artificial rainmakers to do their job as soon as conditions are practicable.

A special meeting will be held at the Ellington, Conn., Town Hall tonight at which tobacco growers and potato farmers will be asked to back the project.

Worcester (Mass.) County farmers also asked permission to "seed" the clouds for rain. The state weather control board will consider the petition in a public hearing.

Ask Federal Aid
Massachusetts state officials have sent a plea to Washington to put this state in the disaster class so drought-stricken farmers will be eligible for federal loans.

Long Dry Spell
The federal Agriculture Department has already declared Tennessee and parts of Missouri and Arkansas as disaster areas. Similar action is planned for Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi and other regions.

The Boston area and some other areas in New England got only .52 of an inch of rain in July, making this the longest dry spell in 134 years. The .52 inches of rain is 2.14 inches less than normal for July.

Pastures in most of New England are in the worst condition in the memory of dairymen. Maine reports an estimated seven million dollar loss to farmers not including the effect in potatoes.

Cool Reception For Ocean Flier

WASHINGTON (AP)—Max Conrad, Minneapolis flier, completed his second round trip to Europe in his Piper Pacer airplane yesterday and got a cool reception from customs officials here.

Returning from a good-will trip to the Scandinavian countries on behalf of the Minneapolis Aquatennial, Conrad arrived unannounced and had to circle Washington National Airport for a while until arrangements were made with the customs office.

Conrad said customs officials were not pleased to see him, since they had not expected an arrival from abroad. But difficulties were cleared up in an hour or so.

GOPHER HITCH-HIKES RIDE
YORKTON, Canada (AP)—A gopher hitch-hiked into town for a short visit. The animal was seen to hop down to the pavement from a farmer's car, and hop right back again when the car started off.

2 CANDIDATES SELECTED FOR VOTER APPEAL

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The two political conventions of 1952 will be analyzed and interpreted for years, helped by leaks on what happened behind closed doors. That's the custom.

But, although there were some subtle and some not-so-subtle struggles in Chicago, everything that happened there was secondary to the main point which already is clear enough:

The overwhelming desire of both parties to win the November elections. This meant subordinating everything else to the selection of the two men who looked like the best vote-getters.

The Democrats' choice of Gov. Stevenson was a little more complex than the selection of Gen. Eisenhower by the Republicans.

He Is Popular
With his immense prestige and reputation for leadership, Eisenhower had demonstrated his popularity over Sen. Taft in the preferential primaries and the public opinion polls.

Stevenson displayed his voter appeal in the only political campaign he ever made: when he won the governorship of Illinois by the biggest majority in the state's history.

Still, up to the time of the Democratic convention, the general public outside Illinois knew far less about Stevenson than about Sen. Kefauver, who had been in the public eye since his crime investigation, campaigned hard for the nomination, and proven his ability to capture votes.

Two Strikes On Estes
But Kefauver had two strikes on him from the beginning: he was poison to the Democratic bosses in the big cities where he held his crime quiz; he was disliked in the South, outside his own Tennessee, for his steady support of President Truman's policies.

Nevertheless, the Democratic politicians couldn't ignore two facts about Kefauver: (1) he had made his reputation on his crime investigation and (2) because of that, was supported by a lot of people who looked to him, if he was elected, to clean up Washington.

So the Democratic politicians had a problem: if Kefauver was unacceptable to the South and the city bosses, in this year when every vote is needed, where then find a man who might not only pacify but unite the entire party, get votes, and still convince people he, too, could be a cleaner-upper?

KIDDIES KNOW COMICS BETTER THAN NOTABLES

By DAVID T. MARKE
The Associated Press
Parents and teachers are becoming more and more concerned about radio, TV, comics and the movies viewed and read by their children. According to Professor Paul Witte, director of the Psycho-Educational Clinic of Northwestern University, and Dr. Harry Bricker of Emory University's Atlanta Area Teacher Education Service, these forms of entertainment have come to be increasingly important to our children in recent years. Sometimes it seems to adults that youngsters' leisure time is filled with little else. The authors of a little pamphlet, "Your Child and Radio, TV, Comics and Movies," published by Science Research Associates, Inc., of 57 W. Grand Ave., Chicago, Ill., they point out that millions of children know comic characters better than they know our secretary of state or England's prime minister.

Most Read Comics
Over 90 per cent of children between 8 and 13 years of age regularly read comic strips and comic books. Every Saturday, and often three or four times a week, 10 million children's eyes are glued to movie screens. In addition, the average child in some communities spends two or more hours each day listening to the radio. Reading, studying and other activities are often carried on with radio programs as background. It is known, too, that 5- and 6-year-olds are among the heaviest televisioners;

they often watch TV four or five hours a day. Many children, ages 7 to 17, spend an average of three hours a day in front of television sets. Some watch video 27 hours a week — almost as much time as they spend on their lessons. "What do all these facts mean?" the authors ask. "They mean that today's children live not merely in an age of mass communication. . . . Today—directly or indirectly—these forms of entertainment inescapably touch every child, and no amount of parental care can prevent this."
Not Harmful Media
These media, the authors say, are not in themselves harmful. Rather, it's the way they are often used and the things they bring to the eyes and the ears of children that cause the trouble. Parents are concerned, for example, with the horror and violence which run through so much of the material. They want to know if the constant repetition of trite situations will stunt the creativeness of children exposed to them. Will children accept the standards and values stressed by these entertainments as their own even if these are opposed to those values stressed by most parents and teachers? Will the child who is a passive listener learn to participate in constructive activities?

Won't grades go down? What can parents do to help them choose a balanced diet of fun and recreation? First of all, say the authors, moderation is essential. Only you and your child can decide how much time he should have for listening to the radio or watching TV, or reading comics. Only you can decide how much excitement he can stand without ill effects. You may have to ration or even ban some programs. If you do have to skip some programs, you'll need to provide some good substitutes. The important thing is to plan with your child a well-balanced program.
Schedule Homework
Schedule homework before or after he settles down to his favorite programs. Some children can work to a background of radio, but this isn't true of every child. As for movies, children under 8 should go very seldom, say the authors. When they do go, parents should know from reviews or from some reliable person who has seen the movie, that it is a wholesome experience for a small child. And it is a good idea, they say, for movie going not to become a habit. Since TV, radio and the comics are here to stay, say the authors, teachers can play a part, too, in helping children make better use of these media. By learning something about their pupils' habits they can also discover ways to use these as tools for helping children learn.

Do you know how many miles it can get from a gallon of gas?
Do you know that it has a Million Dollar Ride?

You're missing the fun of feeling daisy-fresh with half-a-thousand thrilling miles behind you.
